

These Are The Days of Elijah

Robin Mark has written several songs about Elijah, two are available on his Revival in Belfast Album. One of them "Days of Elijah" says, "These are the Days of Elijah," another, Revival starts with "I hear the voice of one crying, I hear the voice of one crying, prepare ye, prepare ye the way of the Lord." Of course that too is Elijah.

Elijah or the spirit of Elijah is a recurring theme of the Bible. In the very last few verses of the last chapter of the Old Testament God speaks through His prophet Malachi who says, "Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD: And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse."

The Jews were also aware that Elijah, or the spirit of Elijah, must return before the coming of the Messiah. Jesus' disciples were confused as they were sure that Jesus was the Messiah but how then could Elijah be first. Jesus replied, "Elias truly shall first come, and restore all things. But I say unto you, That Elias is come already, and they knew him not, but have done unto him whatsoever they listed." Then the disciples understood that John the Baptist was the Elijah to come before the Messiah. They had missed Elijah But note what Jesus said first, "Elias truly shall first come and restore all things." That is not only future tense but it is a different message than the one John the Baptist had, it is the message of the Malachi Elijah.

Christians everywhere believe that the return of the Lord Jesus Christ will happen soon. If that is so and the spirit of Elijah must first come to restore all things then where is he?

Robin Mark has caught that these are the days of Elijah, but the Lords disciples have once again missed that he has already been.

But throughout the world there are a growing number of people who believing scripture believe that William Branham had the spirit of Elijah. Preaching mainly in the wilderness outside the denominational churches his life displayed the same attributes, miracles and teachings. His sermons restoring the original Christian Faith; forerunning the return of Jesus Christ.

These are the days of Elijah.

I do hear a voice crying in the wilderness.

It is the return of the Lord.
